The Story of Danh Vo

We have another success story to share with you. Messengers of Love organization has been working on bringing Danh Vo, a 7 years old boy from a village near Hue, Vietnam, to the USA for burn treatment. He was badly burned from the neck down after falling into a pot of boiling water when he was 3 years old. MoL members have been working with the Shriner's hospital in Galveston Texas for bringing Danh here for surgery. Mother and child finally arrived in the USA in March this year and the surgery was held in May 2008.

We are happy to report that the surgery was successful. The doctor was able to release and remove scar tissues in three areas of the body. The wounds are healing well and Danh can now function normally. He is active and has been able to walk around the house. He will continue to see the doctor regularly for another 6 months until he is completely healed. His mother is his primary caretaker and has done a great job tending to the child. Both mother and child stayed at MoL president's home, and the boy is going to school to learn English. His mother is extremely grateful and had expressed her deep gratitude to MoL organization members and sponsors including Dr. Nam Hoang and family, Sister Thu Hang, Ms. Do Lieu, Ms. Minh Tam, and Dr. Cauley and Ms. Theresa Picket for the successful operation. We at Messengers of Love are very happy that we could help Danh and his family and are grateful for all those who sponsored and contributed in this effort.

Danh and his mother had returned to Vietnam on March 2009, after a successful surgery and recovery. MoL will continue to support Danh to go to school in his country. MoL will continue with its mission of "making a profound difference in a child's life" in as many ways as we can. We are active in our work of Love and do need continuous support from big-hearted people such as yourself.

May God continue to bless Danh and his family with many abundance and much peace, happiness and love.
